

Accept Ford Offer, Urges Athens Man At Farm Conference

James W. Morton Says Acceptance of Muscle Shoals Plan Means Farm Prosperity.

PRESIDENT OUTLINES PROBLEMS INVOLVED

Pleads for Ample Credit Facilities and Other Advantages for Farmers of Nation.

Washington, January 23.—Acceptance by the government of the offer of Henry Ford for the Muscle Shoals (Ala.) power and nitrate plants was urged before the national agricultural conference today by James W. Morton, of Athens, Ga., in an address in which he detailed the conditions existing among the farmers of the south.

The acceptance of the Ford offer was one of a number of suggestions made by Mr. Morton for agricultural relief in the south where, he declared, "there is a general feeling of unrest and uncertainty." Other suggestions included cheaper transportation charges, development of the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes waterway project, easier banking credits, and a "reliable" system of crop reports.

Act Promptly, He Says.

"The government should without further delay," said Mr. Morton, "authorize the signing of the Ford contract for Muscle Shoals in order that southern agriculture and, I might add, American agriculture, would have within our own borders the source of cheap fertilizers and make available for use our national resources at the least cost of service." Mr. Morton told the conference the merchants of his section would be unable to meet their obligations and farmers would be unable to finance the coming year's crops unless both were provided some means of liquidating or amortizing their loans.

The 1920 cotton crop cost from 200 to 300 per cent above normal sold for about one-third of the cost of production, Morton asserted, adding that the small crop of last year, owing to the cotton carried over from the preceding season and abnormal times did not bring the cost of production.

Backed by Vermont.

The demand from the south that the government accept Ford's offer, was endorsed by E. B. Cornwall, of Vermont. Immediate relief must be given the farmers in the present agricultural crisis, delegates were told by speakers representing every phase of this industry. President Harding, who opened the conference with an address; Secretary Wallace, farmers, and representatives of industries dependent on agriculture emphasized the seriousness of the situation and suggested remedies.

The remedial measures outlined by President Harding and subsequently endorsed by many of the speakers, included more adequate financial facilities, especially working capital, for the farmer; long time loans to provide for his turnover of the co-operative marketing; buying and loan associations of farmers; development of waterway transportation and power possibilities; more efficient machinery for collecting and distributing market information, including the demand and consumptive outlook; development of the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes waterway project, and assurance to agriculture of equality of opportunity with all other industries.

Want Freight Rates Cut.

Demand for reduction of freight rates was also voiced generally by the farmers and a reduction in retail prices was suggested as a necessary step to start increased consumption of farm products. Depression in agriculture, which was declared to be general in the United States, is reflected in industries intimately connected with and dependent on a prosperous agriculture. It was asserted by representatives of the milling, packing, fertilizer and implement industries. Each of the latter pledged full co-operation with agriculture in any effort to restoration of normal conditions.

Despite Arrests, He'll Not Go Back To Fatima, He Says

Savannah Man Denies He Ever Married Lady of Oriental Name.

Savannah, Ga., January 23.—(Special.)—Nail Corey, superintendent of a carnival company, left for Boston today to pacify one of his former "Oriental Fatimas," who swears he is her husband, with the declaration that although he has been arrested four times in different parts of the country and confronted with the woman, he will not live with her even if he is taken back to Boston a thousand more times.

Corey will answer a charge of wife desertion, involving, according to his statement, "an incidental romance," of twenty-two years ago.

He declared that the woman, whose name is Navame, he met in Chicago, when more than twenty years ago he was running the "first carnival" that was ever operated on the lines of the present-day shows of this class; that he became her friend; that she had two children, and he believed her husband to be dead.

Shot Full of Holes.

While in New York as he was about to leave on a trip to Africa and other far countries, Corey said he was persuaded to agree to marry her, and did procure a license, but never married. This was fourteen years ago. In Kentucky, in 1916, she again joined his show, but not in the role of the Oriental "Fatima" which she played in her young days with Corey. She had another lover, he declared, who shot him "full of holes." Corey bears scars of the wounds.

Periodically, he continued, the woman has him arrested and taken back to Boston, where he says she has wealth valued at more than $100,000, including two houses he gave her.

"Love Feast."

This is the fourth time, he said he has been arrested in various parts of the country and forced to go to Boston for a "love feast" and a settlement "of the dreadful" mistake on payments of the costs.

The name of her husband, Corey asserted, with whom she does not live is Joseph Domens.

Two Young Women Figure in Holdup At Chicken House

Men Cover Proprietor With Pistols and Companions Loot Register.

J. H. Rose, proprietor of a chicken house on the Mayson and Turner road near the Chattahoochee river, reported to police Monday night that he had been held up at the points of pistols and robbed by two men and three young women in his establishment about 7:30 o'clock. The bandits secured $15.75.

He stated that the party alighted from a small touring car headed towards town, and ordered three chickens. While he was preparing them, he said, the two men suddenly covered him with pistols, and compelled him to stand aside while two of the women rifled the cash register. The other woman sat at a table and watched the others. They afterward drove away.

One of the men, he stated, had black eyes and black hair, with a streak of gray over his left ear. He wore a dark suit and a black cap, and was of medium height. The other was tall and slender, with a gold tooth in the left side of his upper jaw.

Two of the women wore coat suits. The other wore a dark skirt with a yellow shirtwaist.

DAMAGE BY FIRE UNDER PARK HOTEL NOT OVER $1,000

Fire of undetermined origin in the basement of the Terminal Tire company, at 48 Madison avenue, Monday night, resulted in damage of approximately $1,000. The stock of the tire company was practically undamaged.

Slight damage was sustained by the Park hotel, 48 1-2 above the tire company's establishment, by smoke and water. The Quick Lunch, at 50 Madison, suffered some damage as the result of the firemen cutting a hole through the wall into the tire company's place in fighting the fire.

PRETTY MARGARET, OF PARDON FAME, MUST LEAVE CITY

Savannah, Ga., January 23.—(Special.)—Margaret Harris, the pretty girl whose charming wiles and smiles exercised for the benefit of a legislative committee, won a pardon for her from the state farm last summer and likewise no end of notoriety over the state, today was given until 9 o'clock tonight to leave Savannah. She was with two other women before the recorder, charged technically with loitering.

MARTIN AMOROUS URGED FOR PLACE ON RESERVE BOARD

Georgian Backed for New Position by Many Leaders at National Farm Conference.

BARRETT SUPPORTING AMOROUS FOR PLACE

Is Resident of Marietta, and Prominent Atlanta Business Man—To Introduce Resolutions Today.

Washington, January 23.—(Special.)—Martin F. Amorous, of Atlanta, Ga., is the choice of leading men attending the agricultural conference for a position on the federal reserve board. Heads of farm organizations representing every section of the United States have united in assuring Charles S. Barrett that they will aid him in obtaining the appointment of Mr. Amorous.

Among these are W. C. Lansden, representing the farmers' union, of Kansas; E. S. Pommerening, president of the American Society of Equity, with headquarters at Milwaukee, Wis.; E. T. Atkeson, of the national grain, and many others.

Attention was called to the fact that the president in his speech opening the conference endorsed the slogan of Mr. Amorous that the buying power of the farmers must be restored. The conference is expected to make recommendations in line with resolutions which the Georgian will tomorrow introduce.

Mr. Amorous, who is one of Atlanta's leading business men and owner of valuable property here, has recently made his home in Marietta. He has for years been interested in agricultural projects and recently has been trying to interest Henry Ford in the development of the Chattahoochee river water power.

WIFE IN HOSPITAL, HUSBAND IN JAIL

E. H. McFarland Charged With Attacking Wife When She Refused to Send Her Son Away.

Mrs. E. H. McFarland, of 272 South Forsyth street, is at Grady hospital with a fractured skull and E. H. McFarland, a machinist, her husband, is held at police station without bond, pending outcome of her injuries. It is alleged that he attacked her about 6 o'clock Monday evening and beat her over the head with his walking cane.

The trouble is said to have arisen over a 12-year-old boy, a son of Mrs. McFarland by a former marriage. Police were told that Monday morning McFarland threatened to kill his wife if she did not send her son away. Returning to their boarding house at 6 o'clock and finding she had not followed his instructions, he fell into a rage, it is alleged, and severely beat her.

Police say that McFarland had been drinking when the attack occurred. Physicians at Grady hospital said that her injuries are serious, but not necessarily fatal.

BETTY NOT EXPECTED TO BE PUT ON STAND

KLEIN TAKES STAND AS STATE WITNESS

One Jurymen Purged Because He Had Contributed to the Bunco Investigating Fund.

Direct accusation that T. D. Shaw, suspended lieutenant of detectives, was the driver of an automobile figuring in a bunco scheme whereby he was fleeced of $5,500 in November, 1920, was made in the United States district court by N. L. Davis, Indiana farmer, at the first session of the trial of the former police department official, on a charge of conspiring to use the mails in furtherance of a scheme to defraud.

After Judge W. I. Grubb declined to dismiss the case on a demurrer brought by Robert T. Jones, counsel for Shaw, the trial began at 12:30 o'clock. N. L. Davis, the victim, was the first and principal witness. Other witnesses, including W. W. "Swifty" Klein, alleged bunco man, testified. Court adjourned at 5 o'clock until 9:30 o'clock Tuesday morning.

About fifty witnesses were sworn. Many of these were character witnesses for the defense, but Judge Grubb afterward announced that only five character witnesses would be permitted. A jurymen was purged at the instance of the defense because he had been a contributor to the bunco prosecution fund in 1921.

Courtroom Crowded. It is expected that the trial will consume the greater part of Tuesday and Wednesday. The courtroom was crowded Monday, many of the spectators being members and friends of the police department.

N. L. Davis, the first witness, told substantially the same story he had related last spring at the city hall bunco hearing, and also in the Fulton

WILL INTER POPE LATE TOMORROW

Such Are Present Plans, But Final Decision Is Deferred Until Wednesday Morning.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Rome, January 23.—The interment of Benedict XV. has been tentatively fixed for Wednesday afternoon. The body will lie in state in the basilica of St. Peter's only a day and a half more, according to the present plans. Benedict's wish not to be embalmed necessitates departure from the custom that the pope's body lie in state for three days.

Final decision will be taken on this question Wednesday morning, but the present view of the Vatican is that it will be impossible to keep the body exposed beyond Wednesday afternoon. The statement also was made tonight, but not officially, that the coffin would be closed within a few hours, and that the usual ceremony of worshippers filing past kissing the uncovered foot of the dead pope would be eliminated. The removal of the body from the throne room to the basilica this morning.

HOW FARMERS OF THE SOUTHWEST BEAT THE BOLL WEEVIL!

Not Based on Theories or Experiments, But on Facts

James A. Hollomon, special staff correspondent of The Atlanta Constitution, will tell the farmers of the Southwest how the farmers of the Southwest solved the problem of successful farming under boll weevil conditions, in a series of interesting and instructive articles, beginning in tomorrow's Constitution.

Mr. Hollomon is following the path of the boll weevil, making an exhaustive study of the methods used to bring prosperity despite the havoc wrought by the boll weevil.

What the farmers of Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi are doing, the farmers of Georgia, Alabama and South Carolina can do.

Readers of The Constitution will recall the splendid series of articles by Mr. Hollomon on the methods of each of the Southern States in solving their tax problems.

These articles were published months ago—but requests for them continue to come to The Constitution. The editions containing these articles were long since exhausted.

Guard against this by ordering now your Constitution containing the Hollomon Boll Weevil Series. Save every one. Read and study them, and see that your neighbors get them.

Sound Advice on What to Do This Spring, and How to Do It.

that is highly prejudicial to a fair and impartial trial for my client." On the other hand, Solicitor-General Boykin is determined to resist any plea for change of venue. "When we consider the maudlin sob stuff that has been written about this innocent and baby-faced boy, including his last utterance in which he gives advice with all the splendid assurance of Little Rollo or some traditional model boy, it would seem to me that the defense would rather try this case in Fulton county than anywhere else on earth," said Mr. Boykin.

His Attorney's Report.
Though Mr. Allen and Louis Foster, associated with him, have both declared that they will not enter an insanity plea, the Solicitor-General has decided to make it a condition of his plea for change of venue. He has the report of Dr. Frank Eskridge, who examined DuPre Sunday, and though Dr. Eskridge has made no announcement of what his findings are, it is fairly certain that he found no mental deficiency.

"I don't know anything about these lady psychoanalysts that Mr. Allen has brought into this case," said Mr. Boykin, "but I have the gravest doubts as to whether their opinions can be ruled as material in a court of law and I am absolutely certain that they will have no weight in this case. The law only excuses a man for crime when his mind is so faulty that he cannot distinguish right from wrong in the particular act for which he is being tried."

"Now I think the defense will find it hard to make anybody believe that DuPre was suffering from any illusion or hallucination that caused him to think that he had a right to walk into Nat Kaiser's jewelry store and take anything he pleased and shoot down anyone who attempted to interfere with him—and those are the undisputed facts in this case."

Expected Verdict Tuesday Night.
The solicitor-general believes that the case will probably be brought to a close by Tuesday night. He has summoned 25 witnesses, but indicated that not more than half of them would be used, the others having been served just in case they were needed.

A body blow to the hopes of the curious, who will doubtless fight to get into the courtroom, is the extreme likelihood that Betty Andrews will not appear in the DuPre trial. Solicitor Boykin indicated strongly that he saw no particular necessity of calling her to make out his own case, and Mr. Allen doubted whether there was any place for her in his defense.

The girl remains in the Tower to await trial on charges of complicity in the Kaiser robbery and on a statutory charge, despite the fact that DuPre now denies that he had ever involved her in any complicity in the robbery and the girl herself denies stoutly that she ever admitted to any factives that she had any knowledge of the crime until after it was committed.

Notes Are Exchanged.
She and DuPre exchanged notes Monday from their cells. Betty sent the first asking the prisoner how he was getting along, and DuPre replied that he was getting along all right except for lack of cigarette money which he asked the girl to provide on the grounds that he had always given her money when he had it.

Whether the girl was in funds or not was never developed, as DuPre's father and other relatives arrived with cigarettes and food not carried on the "T" in this case.

One clash that may develop in the court will be one between DuPre and Jack Worth, indicted as an accessory after the fact in the DuPre robberies. Through his attorney, Lena B. Guillevand, Worth Monday offered to turn state's evidence against DuPre, while DuPre, in return, offered to turn state's evidence against Worth.

Another development of the day was the answer filed by Betty Andrews to the bill for divorce against her husband, E. J. Anderson. The paper, prepared by Fred Harrison, charges Anderson with infidelity, cruel and inhuman treatment, and frequent failure to support her.

RAIL UNION LEADERS REVIEW HOOVER PLAN

BY ALEXANDER F. JONES.
United News Staff Correspondent.
Chicago, January 23.—Representatives of 2,000,000 railroad employees are here considering the proposition of getting back to old-time relations with their employers.

The grand chiefs of the sixteen standard railroad unions, meeting jointly for the first time since the strike threat last October, are here to get together on the suggestions of Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, to bring about peace in the railroad world for the first time since the carriers were returned to private ownership.

Secretary Hoover has suggested that the unions and individual roads settle their troubles locally through regional arbitration boards made up of their own members instead of going to the United States railroad labor board.

The four transportation brotherhoods are in favor of this plan. More than 300 railroad executives, meeting here, also accepted it. Now all that remains is for representatives of 600,000 shophmen to accept it.

If this is done, and it was stated Monday night by high authority that success looked bright, the United States railroad labor board will become a minor factor in settlement of railroad disputes in the future.

Public Can View.
On entering the main door of St. Peter's, the funeral party was received by the clergy of the great basilica, who escorted the cortege down the main central aisle to a position in the center of the church, just opposite the statue of St. Peter. There the cortege stopped for a moment, and then the public was admitted to the chapel of the Holy Sacrament, where the public can view the body through the immense iron gates.

The certificate of the pope's death, which was registered today, will be entered in the records of the capital at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning in virtually the same manner as for all Roman citizens. In view, however, of the late pope's high rank, the mayor himself will make the entry. The legal adviser of the pontifical government, Prince Massimo, vatican minister of posts, and Prince Aloisio, commander of the noble guard.

Americans May Take Part.
Participation of the American cardinals in the conclave, the date for the opening of which has been definitely fixed for February 2, is still possible, but is regarded as doubtful by the secretary of state. A cable message has been received from Cardinal O'Connell, of Boston, announcing that he was taking passage for Rome tomorrow, while Cardinal Dougherty has cabled that he will not reach Philadelphia before Friday.

Monsignor Pizzardo, who is acting secretary of state, said today that Cardinal O'Connell had a possible chance of reaching Rome in time, providing the new conclave does not choose a new pope on the first ballot, but he thought that Cardinal Dougherty's chances were slim, unless the session of the conclave was long and arduous and many ballots were required.

Asked concerning the possibility of postponing the conclave to permit the American cardinals to attend, the secretary replied that the constitution would have to be amended for that purpose, as the conclave must be called within ten days after the death of the pope.

Conclave Date Set.
A consistory, under the presidency of Cardinal Gasparri, met this evening and decided definitely on February 2. The secretary requested the Associated Press correspondent to set straight the erroneous impression to the effect that once the conclave began its sessions, no late arrival could enter.

Asked whether the conclave at any time it is sitting, he said, "and may even participate in the last ballot." Thus, should the conclave extend over several days—and some of them have lasted many weeks—both American cardinals may be present. No cardinal is allowed to leave the conclave while it is sitting, but a cardinal is permitted to enter. This is the rule.

A fast torpedo boat destroyer might bring Cardinal Dougherty in time to attend," Monsignor Pizzardo said, half jokingly.

Thousands Sympathetic.
There seems to be a genuine desire in vatican circles that the United States be represented. It is admitted that the cardinals in Canada and Basil will be unable to attend. The secretariat is flooded with thousands of messages of condolences and sympathy from all corners of the globe, signed by the heads of the greatest states and the humblest parish priests, written practically in all modern languages, and many of them in Latin.

Kayenta in the Arizona desert has the distinction of being farther from a railroad station than any other place in the country.

There has been much speculation on the probable successor of Benedict, but there is no outstanding figure. The Popolo Romano, however, says that Cardinal Massi, archbishop of Pisa, is the government's candidate in consequence of his high patriotism.

authority to determine the facts as to the financial conditions of the various countries and then determine the time limit. Pointing out that the secretary of the treasury, under the demand now held by the United States, had authority to collect interest, Senator Hitecock, democrat, Nebraska, suggested that there was no immediate necessity for the proposed legislation. Senator McCumber, republican, Iowa, contended, however, that the demand notes should be refunded with interest rates and other questions settled so as to help stabilize economic conditions overseas. A similar argument was made by Senator King, democrat, Utah.

Several amendments to the bill were offered today, among them one by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, proposing to authorize the secretary of the treasury alone to accept bonds for the obligations now held by the United States, "in accordance with the law in force at the time such obligations were incurred."

SAYS SHAW DROVE CAR IN BUNCO SWINDLE

superior court in connection with civil proceedings to recover his money. Details of his meeting with Frank Douglas, the alleged steerer, in Chattanooga, and their trip together to Atlanta, where they encountered Lem Gleason, operating under the name of Grant, and pretending to be from a northern city, were told by the victim.

He explained how he was made acquainted with the "stock exchange" at 25-1-2 West Peachtree street by "Grant," and how he was induced to go to the Farmers and Traders bank, on Peters street, to get them to wire to his bank back home for $5,500.

Points to Shaw.
While telling of the trip to Peters street, Hal Lindsay, assistant United States district attorney, conducting the prosecution, asked Davis how he drove the machine in which he rode, together with Douglas and "Grant," from the Kimball house to the Peters street bank. The witness pointed to Shaw, the defendant, without hesitation.

Davis said that after he had lost his money in a fake stock transaction the swindlers induced him to go to Terre Haute, Ind. He was instructed to wait there and his money would be "recovered" for him. He found that he had been the victim of a fraudulent scheme, he complained to Solicitor Boykin in Atlanta, and after coming to Atlanta to assist in rounding up the gang, he searched the city for two months for the driver of the machine, and finally recognized Shaw as being the man. It was at the second night of the famous city hall hearing, Davis said, that he saw Shaw. He recognized him from the opposite side of the council chamber, he said.

Had Gone to Pools.
He first testified that he reported that he had found his man to Solicitor Boykin, but on cross-examination by Attorney Jones for the defense he stated that he had gone to Pools at first, and that Pools had referred him to the solicitor.

"Will you allow me to say what Pools said to me when I told him about Shaw?" Davis asked Shaw's attorney.

"Well, if I ask you, yes sir," Attorney Jones replied. He did not express his desire to know the nature of the remark, however.

Davis said that the machine driven by Shaw had been referred to as a taxicab, but that it bore no taxi sign, and was not equipped with a meter. L. P. Carter, cashier of the Farmers and Traders bank, testified as to the actual transaction at the bank. It was shown that Davis deposited with him for collection a check for $400 and a certificate of deposit for $5,100 on an Indiana bank on Saturday, November 18, and that Davis had secured the money for the documents a few days later.

Klein Is Offered.
When the bank official concluded with his testimony the government sprung a surprise by offering W. W. "Swifty" Klein as a witness. His arrest in Indianapolis had been reported last week, and his arrival in Atlanta Saturday had been kept secret. Klein is under federal and state indictment.

During a little tilt over the admission of certain testimony by Klein between Attorney Jones and Assistant District Attorney Lindsay, the federal prosecuting attorney declared:

"It is our contention that the lieutenant of detectives furnished police protection to the bunco men operating here, and that one who protects them is as guilty as those actually engaged in the system. We contend that about the time of the Davis transaction Shaw was in collusion with members of the gang."

Klein testified that he had known Floyd Woodward for two or three years. A question by Mr. Lindsay as to who was the head of the bunco system in Atlanta was ruled out. The witness said he did not know of the existence of the "West Peachtree street place," but had heard of it. He said that he had worked under the direction of Woodward in various activities.

Klein was question as to the occasion when he was arrested as a pick-pocket suspect at the Oliver hotel, and later released at police station by Lieutenant Shaw. He said that two officers had carried him to Shaw's office. Several officers were in the room, he said, and when he nudged Shaw they went into the hall.

After telling Shaw that he lived at the Sans Souci hotel, on Cone street, and that fifteen or twenty "old boys" were then at the hotel, Klein stated, he was released.

V. D. Young, special officer for the Mutual Stores Protective association, and others testified to having seen Shaw, Chief Pools and Floyd Woodward together at Al Martin's cafe. Mr. Lindsay explained that he wished to bring out their testimony to show the intimacy between Shaw and the bunco element.

The case will be resumed Tuesday morning.

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT BURNS AND ITCHES APPLY SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Metho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Metho-Sulphur at any drug store.—(adv.)

OUCH! MY BACK! RUB LUMBAGO PAIN AWAY

St. Jacob's Oil stops any pain, so when your back is sore and lame, or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest St. Jacob's Oil at any drug store, pour a little in your hand, and rub it right on your aching back; and by the time you count fifty the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the pain right out and ends the misery. It is absolutely harmless, and doesn't burn the skin. Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica, backache or rheumatism promptly. It never disappoints!—(adv.)

THE public isn't "out of the market."

The public is buying—but buying in a different mood from that of a few years ago.

Today it needs some stimulus—some reason why.

The public is buying those articles that are properly presented to it. The presentation of your goods to the public is today the turning-point of success.

Commissioners of Roads and Highways Fulton County, Georgia

Atlanta, Georgia,
November 11th, 1921.

To Whom It May Concern:

Fulton County during the past five years has constructed more than $1,000,000 worth of concrete road on which the Vibrolithic System and Service were employed to pack the concrete and place the rock wearing surface.

During this period Fulton County has not expended $200 on the entire forty (40) miles of work for maintenance, having required no maintenance but as against the very substantial construction, the maintenance is up to us.

Obviously we are pleased with Vibrolithic.

Sincerely,
Chas. J. Thompson, Chm. Fulton Co. Commission.

1913 TELEGRAM

VIBROLITHIC,
Dallas, Texas.

I approve general principles adopted in Vibrolithic pavement. Vibrations properly applied increase density and therefore water-tightness and strength. Inspection of pavement laid for six months should provide excellent idea of permanence, since durability depends on thorough embedment of stone without excess mortar and the use of aggregate for the base containing clean graded sand of the first-class quality.

HIGHTOWER BOX & TANK CO. ATLANTA, GA.

November 15, 1921.

Vibrolithic, Atlanta.

Gentlemen: I am in receipt of your letter regarding my opinion of Vibrolithic.

During the last two years of my term as a Fulton County Commissioner, namely in 1917 and 1918, we laid our first Vibrolithic roads.

Since leaving the office of Commissioner, I have watched very closely this work, and I am glad to join the present County Commissioners in their endorsement.

Wishing you much deserved success, I am,

Yours very truly, T. J. HIGHTOWER, JR.

WM. M. POOLE General Merchandise

Atlanta, Ga., January 11, 1922.

Vibrolithic, Atlanta.

Gentlemen: Vibrolithic is all right. When I was a Fulton County Commissioner, through my insistence the rest of the Commissioners agreed for me to try out your system if I would lay it in front of my business property on Whitehall street that catches "all kind" traffic.

This was nearly five years ago. The pavement is in perfect condition today. I am Vibrolithic's first friend in the southeast and the system never had a better one.

Yours truly, W. M. POOLE.

W. R. Neel, State Highway Engineer,
Atlanta, Georgia.

Dear Sir: I have your letter relative to the Vibrolithic pavement laid in Fulton County under my supervision as Consulting Engineer.

There is no hesitancy on my part in saying that the 1-2 3/4 vibrated mortar job is superior, in my opinion, to the mortar laid 1-2 by the usual method of water tamping and belt finish. In fact, I feel justified in saying that I will be disappointed if that portion vibrated where we use a 1-3 mortar does not prove superior to the ordinary non-compacted 1-2 mortar.

The above comparison is made from personal observation where the sand used was the same in all cases.

I am glad to make this statement and would be pleased to go over these roads personally with you at your convenience.

Yours very truly,
F. C. SNOW, Prof. of Highway Engineering.

CITY OF ATLANTA Department of Chief of Construction

Atlanta, Ga., November 7, 1918

F. W. Sampson, Esq.,
S. E. Branch Vibrolithic, Atlanta.

Dear Sir: I have made a very careful study of your method of concrete pavement construction known as "The Vibrolithic System" and am very much impressed with its merits. I have put down two street pavements, using said method and am greatly pleased with the results.

I have also closely inspected some of the Fulton county work on which your method was employed, all of which are up to the standard.

Last night at a representative meeting of the Juniper Street Improvement Club, I recommended the Vibrolithic concrete pavement for Juniper street and my recommendation was unanimously adopted.

Wishing you success in your efforts, I am,
Yours truly,
H. L. COLLIER, Chief of Construction.

STATE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT OF GEORGIA ATLANTA, GA.

SUBJECT—Fulton County.

Hon. Paul S. Etheridge, Chairman,
Fulton County Commissioners,
Citizens and Southern Bank Building,

Dear Sir: This will advise you that specifications for laying Vibrolithic concrete with 1:2 3/4:4 1/2 mix have been approved by this department.

Yours very truly,
W. R. NEEL, State Highway Engineer.

CITY OF MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA H. A. WASHINGTON, City Engineer

August 5, 1921.

Vibrolithic, Atlanta.

Gentlemen: Just a line to commend you on your work on your last and sixth contract in this city which was done with dispatch and to my entire satisfaction. I believe 20,000 yards of completed pavement in four weeks constitutes a record for the south in paving city streets.

Vibrolithic service embodying the rock-wearing surface and compacting concrete mortar are principles that are right.

Your continued success is not only hoped for but assured.

Yours very truly,
H. A. WASHINGTON, City Engineer.

CITY OF LaGRANGE G. H. SARGENT, City Engineer, LaGrange, Ga.

January 12, 1922.

Vibrolithic, Atlanta.

Gentlemen: Your letter received and I agree that 1921 was a big year for paving in La Grange; we completed 63,000 square yards of Vibrolithic.

This class of pavement was selected last April by the City Council after considering bids from twenty-three contractors for many types. We believe that Vibrolithic possesses the best qualities desired in a long life pavement, and expect many years of useful service from it.

Yours very truly,
G. H. SARGENT, City Engineer.

CITY OF MARIETTA JIM R. BRUMBY, JR., Mayor

Marietta, Ga., January 9, 1922.

Vibrolithic, Atlanta.

Gentlemen: Our city officials, together with a citizens' committee of seven prominent business men, after receiving bids on all classes of pavement varying in price from $2.39 to $3.56 a square yard, selected 6-inch Vibrolithic at $2.81 as the type of pavement best suited for our residence streets as well as a heavy duty business street.

The work is being done by the Pittman Construction Company, and I am glad to state they are doing a splendid job.

Very truly yours, CITY OF MARIETTA,
By JIM R. BRUMBY, JR., Mayor.

Vibrolithic engineers, who have been laying and developing Vibrolithic for the past 11 years, long ago had Pittsburg Laboratory tests substantiating their claims that by their specification they could conserve cement and at the same time improve the concrete—but the GEORGIA engineers HAD to be convinced by actual PERFORMANCE. It took the pavement under heavy traffic and the closest observation to prove THESE claims to THESE engineers.

So we have waited patiently for the pavement to recommend ITSELF, which patience has been rewarded by receiving the approval of our specifications in accordance with our claims as seen by the accompanying letters.

Go SHOPPING with your Commissioner, Mayor, Alderman, Councilman or Engineer. All officials are anxious for you to have what you want because your assessments are to continue for 10 years. Tell them you want the most durable pavement and

SHIP SUBSIDY PLAN TO PRESIDENT TODAY

Washington, January 23.—Chairman Lusk has completed the plan for an American ship subsidy and it is ready for presentation to President Harding Tuesday.

The important feature of the plan is that it provides for a "reasonable profit" for ship operators. While Lusk said he did not wish to discuss details of the plan, he admitted that it established a limit to profits which could be made by operators, and that the first burden of earnings would be placed on the direct subsidy—import duties, tonnage allotments and mail subventions.

HOW TO GET RID OF CATARRH

A Simple, Safe, Inexpensive Method That Clears Out the Head, Nose and Throat.

There is no disease more offensive or disagreeable, or no disease that will lead to as much serious trouble as catarrh. You can now get rid of it by a simple, safe, pleasant home remedy discovered by Dr. Blosser, a catarrh specialist.

Dr. Blosser's Remedy is composed of medicinal herbs, flowers and berries, which you smoke in a dainty pipe or cigarette. The smoke-vapor is inhaled into all the air passages of the head, nose, throat and lungs, and carries medicine where sprays, douches and ointments cannot possibly reach. Its effect is soothing and healing and is entirely harmless. It contains no opiates or tobacco, and may be used by women and children as well as men.

If you suffer from catarrh, asthma, catarrhal deafness, or if subject to frequent colds, you should try this remedy. Satisfactory results guaranteed. Dr. Blosser's Remedy may be had at any well stocked drug store; or if you desire proof of its beneficial and pleasant effect, send ten cents (coin or stamps) to The Blosser Co., 25 DD, Atlanta, Ga., for a trial package. Atlanta to Hear World-Famous Orchestra Wednesday

THE CINCINNATI SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.

From the Pacific to the Atlantic coast, and from the great lakes to the Gulf, the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra this season has offered the larger cities an opportunity to hear orchestral masterpieces played by an organization of the first rank and one which has become an annual visitor to the Atlanta Auditorium. The orchestra's travels have made it probably the most widely known musical organization in the country, and musicians everywhere look upon it as doing more "missionary work" than all the other orchestras combined.

Eugen Ysaye, the Belgian conductor, who has had charge of the orchestra for several years, will again conduct the 50 musicians in Wednesday night's concert. He has prepared an especial program for Atlanta, stating that he desired to offer works not hitherto given. The list includes the great Brahms symphony in E major, the Ysaye tone-poem, "Esterel," the Spanish symphony of Lalo, with Misha Piatra playing the solo part, and two numbers in lighter vein, the overture from "Mignon" and Massenet's "Scenes Alsaciennes."

Misha Piatra, the violin virtuoso, who will make his first appearance here, has met with phenomenal success since his arrival in America something more than a year ago.

The concert Wednesday night, given under the direction of the Atlanta Music bureau and the Atlanta Music club, is expected to draw one of the largest audiences of the season. Seats are on sale at the store of the Cable Piano company at the usual prices.

Rain or Sleet Expected Today By Weather Man

Probable rain or sleet is the forecast for today. C. F. von Herrmann stated Monday afternoon that unusual weather conditions will be created by a sudden rush of warm, moist air from the south, which will encounter a cold wave from the north.

Somewhere in the Gulf of Mexico, said the local weather forecaster, there is a disturbance which is the cause of the rains which have fallen over the cotton belt in the last few days. A storm in the Ohio valley has been brewing for some time, and will result in a lowered temperature. The combination, he stated, is almost sure to create a situation favorable to the fall of sleet.

Monday morning the temperature was at 42 degrees, as recorded by the weather bureau here. It was stated that the mercury would fall around freezing Tuesday, possibly a little below.

In all likelihood, it was said, the sidewalks will be covered with ice, so that pedestrians who had difficulty in keeping their balance Monday will have to be ready to perform gymnastics at short notice while walking along the streets.

It is thought that there will be ice on the trees of considerable thickness, reminding many of January 21 and 22, 1918, when the sidewalks and shrubbery were encased in a coating of congealed rain, in some cases one-half inch in thickness.

"At that time," said Mr. von Herrmann, "the ice on the wires stopped the street cars and trees were so heavy with it that their branches broke with the strain. Conditions for Tuesday should not be as pronounced as then, however."

Other days recorded by the weather bureau here when sleet or ice formed on trees were December 11, 1917, and February 13, 1914, it was stated.

McFarlan to Attend National Conference Of Disabled Veterans

Tech School of Commerce has given special leave of absence to J. A. McFarlan, instructor in law, to attend the national conference of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, to be held in Washington the latter part of January. Mr. McFarlan is in command of the fifth, sixth and fourth federal board districts for that organization.

Mr. McFarlan, who is in charge of the day classes in law and the advanced night-school course at Tech School of Commerce, has approximately 500 ex-service men in government training at Tech who will be affected by this conference.

Mr. McFarlan will return, early in February, in time for the opening of the 1922 term of the school, which will feature new classes in law, accounting, credit management, salesmanship and sales management.

TALK ON EXPLOSIVES AT CABLE HALL TODAY

James M. Taylor, assistant to the chief inspector of the bureau of explosives, will give an illustrated lecture at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening at Cable hall, it is announced by officials of the Southern railway. He will speak upon the safest and most efficient methods of handling high explosives. Mr. Taylor will also discuss the free distribution of picnic acid by the government. Georgia has been allotted 1,000,000 pounds of this acid, which is a war product.

LOCAL TAILOR INVITED TO ATTEND CONVENTION

F. E. Veltré, a local tailor, has received an invitation to attend the thirtieth annual convention of the National Association of Merchant Tailors of America. The convention will be held in Philadelphia, starting January 31.

It is expected that the association will take a firm stand against the proposed increase of $150 duty exemption upon personal goods brought into this country. Because of the scarcity of skilled mechanics in the custom tailoring trade, it is expected that a proposal to halt any tendency to reduce wages below the scale prevailing in other skilled trades will be made.

MINSTRELS TO ATTEND KIWANIAN LUNCHEON

Through the courtesy of Kiwanian Louis Hase, manager of the Atlanta theater, members of the Neil O'Brien minstrels will appear at the Kiwanian club Tuesday at its weekly luncheon. It was announced Monday by President J. Sherrard Kennedy.

FRANK H. REYNOLDS BETTER, SAY DOCTORS

A marked improvement in the condition of Frank H. Reynolds, widely known Atlanta real estate man, who recently underwent an operation in Baltimore, was reported in message reaching Atlanta Monday. Mr. Reynolds was operated on more than a year ago, and a second operation became necessary.

Valdosta, Ga., January 23.—(Special.)—Reports of a fatal shooting affray at Melrose, a small town in Lowndes county, have just been received here. John Bryant, a negro, was shot and killed by James Lofton, young white man.

According to the report, young Lofton and others were drinking and attempted to secure some whisky from the negro, who told them he had no more. A dispute arose and was followed by the shooting of the negro. When officers arrived Lofton had gone and has not yet been arrested.

DR. DODGE TO SPEAK AT Y. M. C. A. SUPPER

Dr. D. W. Dodge will address the Y. M. C. A. Bible class gathering at the Central building during supper hour this evening at 6-15 o'clock. Dr. Dodge is a professor of the Atlanta Theological seminary.

Supper is provided for business men who would like to come to the class before going home. The supper is served at cost and Bible classes follow. Three classes are offered, viz., "Life of Christ," "Life of St. Paul" and "Leaders of Israel."

WANT MORE PEOPLE TO VISIT LAKEWOOD

Plans to increase patronage of Lakewood were begun Monday by Oscar Mills, Fulton county commissioner and president of the Southeastern fair, and R. M. Stripling, general manager of the fair association, when they held a conference with Mayor Ker. Mills said that "Lakewood is a beautiful spot and an ideal picnic ground, and there is no reason why the patronage should not increase."

LEGION HEAD SEES PASSAGE OF BONUS

James A. Fort, of Americus, commander of the Georgia department of the American Legion, who has just returned from a conference of legion leaders at Indianapolis, Ind., declared Monday that the soldier bonus bill will pass congress within 60 days and that it will probably become effective on July 1. Mr. Fort said that the legion's plans to push the soldier bonus bill through congress are complete.

Modern Theater May Be Erected On Mansion Site

Erection of one of the most modern theaters in the south on the governor's mansion property at Peachtree, Cain and Spring streets, is being considered as one of the improvements to be made on that property by Ben J. Massell, who has leased it from the state, according to reports heard at the capitol Monday. Attorneys representing Mr. Massell will hold a conference Tuesday morning with Attorney-General George M. Napier to draw up final details of the lease of the property.

It is understood that Mr. Massell is considering the erection of the theater at the corner of Cain and Spring streets, with entrances on Peachtree, Cain and Spring streets. The theater would be a part of a group of buildings to be constructed on the property, according to the report. The first floors of the buildings on Peachtree street would be used by business firms, while the upper floors will be devoted to offices.

According to the semi-official report, Mr. Massell plans to make the theater one of the prettiest and best appointed theaters in the south for the use of the highest classes of amusements. When erected it will be a beautiful addition to Atlanta's amusement houses and will cater to the highest class of patrons. The Peachtree entrance will be lavishly furnished and will be in the shape of a small arcade. The entrances from Cain and Spring also will be handsomely finished, while the theater itself will be equipped and decorated with the best materials that can be purchased.

It is understood that Mr. Massell will utilize the entire Peachtree side of the property for business houses, with the exception of the entrance to the theater building. The upper floors will be equipped as a modern office building.

Attorney-General Napier stated Monday that he will confer with Mr. Massell's attorneys Tuesday and will work out details of the lease. Next Friday he will confer with T. J. Carling, member of the mansion commission, relative to the improvements to be put on the property. After these conferences the governor will call a meeting of the entire mansion commission when the deal with Mr. Massell probably will be ratified.

CANVASS FOR CITY DIRECTORY COMPLETE

Atlanta's 1922 city directory canvass has been completed and the directory is now ready for the press, according to the announcement Monday by officials of the Atlanta City Directory company, 613 Chamber of Commerce building. Persons who have not been canvassed for the directory have been requested to communicate with the directory company immediately.

The Road that leads Nowhere

THE surest way to travel the "nowhere" road is to float aimlessly in life without acquiring a habit of systematic saving.

Opportunities are constantly presenting themselves, but unless you have put aside something you cannot take advantage of them.

The habit of saving is far more important than drawing a big salary. Just think what could be accomplished if you saved the unnecessary—and made this saving go to work for you in an interest-bearing account at the Fulton. This difference would establish the barrier between destitution and comparative financial comfort.

It will never be easy to start saving, but once you have the thrift habit of setting aside a definite amount each week, the rest will be easy.

Thousands of people in Atlanta have learned to know the Fulton's Saving Department as a sincere, considerate, dependable friend. Come and get acquainted with a really friendly bank today. A dollar will start your account.

STEWART JURY IS DEADLOCKED

Indications Are That It Will Be Kept in Session Until Verdict Is Reached.

Macon, Ga., January 23.—(Special.)—The jury in the case of A. H. Stewart, former city treasurer, charged with the embezzlement of $9,000 of city funds, was still out this evening and indications were it would be kept in session all week unless a verdict is reached.

Judge Malcom D. Jones, who has been designated by Judge Mathews to receive the verdict, when asked today how long the jury would be kept in session, stated:

"Judge Mathews will return to Macon next Saturday."

This was taken to indicate that Judge Jones would not declare a mistrial, and would await the return of Judge Mathews.

From unofficial sources today it was reported that the jury stands eleven for conviction and one for acquittal.

FAREWELL BANQUET GIVEN TO C. M. DERRY

A congenial group of twenty-two friends of C. Malcolm Derry, assistant manager of the southeastern division offices of Lever Brothers & Co., met in the breakfast room of the Kimball house Monday evening to honor him with a farewell banquet. Mr. Derry is leaving Wednesday for Detroit, where he will assume his new duties as assistant manager for that branch of the company.

G. Hall Gibson acted as toastmaster. Among those present were A. A. Chadwick, Dr. Robert E. Latta, Paul T. Arnold, Harry O. Mitchell, E. K. Sturtevant, J. H. Lynch, Wesley A. Moran, M. H. Champion, Herbert Benson, James Reese, Charles Niles, Don Crittenden, John Pilgrim, Charles Laughlin, C. W. Bryan, E. S. Rodgers, Clinton W. Hall, D. A. Lundum and Charles B. Beacham.

Since coming to Atlanta in November, 1920, Mr. Derry has been active in church and Y. M. C. A. activities and has taken great interest in boy work. He is a graduate of Harvard, and during the war served in the United States army ambulance service, being decorated by the Italian government with the war cross of that country for bravery under fire.

Success Is Near In Presbyterian Drive for Funds

The success of the Presbyterian campaign being conducted by synod to raise $200,000 for support of Christian education in Georgia, is now in the hands of three Atlanta churches, the First church, the Central church, and the Westminster church, according to the reports of 150 campaign workers made Monday night at a banquet held in the North Avenue church.

If these three churches do their duty by the cause the campaign will more than go "over the top" within the next few days, according to statements made at the banquet by prominent Presbyterians, both of Atlanta and from other parts of the state. Although many members of these churches have contributed liberally in the campaign the churches themselves have, as yet, made no report, and the result of their activity is being waited for expectantly by Presbyterian churches throughout Georgia.

Despite the clouds of failure that overshadowed the campaign Saturday the returns of the work done Sunday show that Atlanta's goal line will have been reached when quotas of the First church, the Central church and the Westminster church have been raised, according to Scott Candler, state chairman.

Eight churches, including Ormewood Park, Georgia Avenue, Moore Memorial, Gordon Street, East Point, College Park, Decatur and Kirkwood, have subscribed more than their quotas. North Avenue church is expected to reach its goal by Tuesday night. Judge John Sibley reported that the Druid Hills church, despite the fact that it has been hampered by its recent extensive building program, has already raised nearly $4,000 and will oversubscribe its quota within the next few days. Inman Park is nearly "over," and College Park reported a large oversubscription.

When the quotas of the First church, Central church and Westminster church have been subscribed Atlanta will have raised more than $70,000 of the $200,000 being subscribed all over the state for the expansion of the Nacoochee institute and the North Avenue school.

Conference Will Be Held Thursday On Rural Credits

The joint congressional committee appointed recently to assemble information concerning short-time credits will hold a meeting in the senate chamber of the state capitol in Atlanta at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon according to an announcement made Monday by H. Warner Martin, chairman Georgia Bankers' association special committee. Congressman Gordon Lee, of the seventh district of Georgia, is chairman of the joint committee and will preside at its session here.

Mr. Martin has sent out a letter to all members of the Georgia Bankers' association asking them to send representatives to the hearing here. As chairman of the special committee Mr. Martin declared it is his earnest desire that every member of the Georgia Bankers' association send a representative to the meeting Thursday.

The joint committee will receive information from Georgia bankers which it will use in framing legislation which will be recommended to congress. The meeting is one of vital importance to every banker of Georgia according to Mr. Martin.

SEEK TO INTERVENE IN INSURANCE SUIT

Requests to be made parties to a suit brought weeks ago against the Mason's Annuity Insurance company by Mrs. Cora Lee McClelland, were filed in the Fulton superior court Monday by 30 individuals who are interested in the case. In the suit of Mrs. McClelland it is alleged that the Mason's annuity is insolvent. The petitioners assert that they were beneficiaries under policies taken out years ago in the company, and that they had been notified that their policies would be canceled in the spring of 1922.

The plaintiffs are represented by John S. and Ralph McClelland and Reuben R. and Lowry Arnold, attorneys.

BUSINESS WOMEN MEET FRIDAY NIGHT

All Atlanta business and professional women have been invited to attend a general meeting of the business women's division of the chamber of commerce Friday night at 7:45 o'clock, when a number of prominent speakers will discuss the division and its benefits and the reports of the membership campaign of the division will be made. The campaign aims at 1,000 members by February 5, the dues being $10 yearly. There are now about 300 members.

LEAGUE RE-ELECTS LAWRENCE A. JAMES

Lawrence A. James was re-elected president of the North Boulevard Civic league Monday night at the first meeting of the year, in the home of William Silver, 35 Elmwood drive.

Other officers elected were, E. Stevens, vice president; Joseph D. Greene, secretary, and Fred McSwain, treasurer.

The by-laws were amended so that a ladies' auxiliary may be organized and be incorporated in the league.

Mrs. Derry was authorized to organize this auxiliary.

Other features of the meeting were the annual reports of the president and secretary, showing that finances are in good shape, and that the league did good work during 1921. Through its efforts, it was pointed out, a large area of Piedmont park was reclaimed by having a concrete passage for the park sewer installed, which work made possible the extension of the Piedmont municipal golf course. The league also obtained the promise from the board of education to construct a school in that section, to be known as the North Boulevard Park school.

Plans for 1922 were discussed, the main one being the proposed beautifying of the streets in that section with shade trees.

Goodbye Boils!

S. S. S. Will Rid You of Boils, Pimples, Blackheads and Skin Eruptions.

A boil is a volcano—your blood is so choked with poisons that these "boils" erupt into a boil. They'll keep "boiling up" until you destroy them completely by the use of S. S. S., one of the most powerful blood-cleansers known to science. S. S. S. has stood the test of time—the power of its ingredients is acknowledged by authorities. Its medicinal ingredients are guaranteed to be purely vegetable. Right off, it clears the skin of pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, acne, eczema, rash and other skin eruptions, and does it thoroughly. It drives out of the blood impurities which cause eczema, makes the blood rich and pure builds up lost flesh. It helps to manufacture new blood cells—thats one of its secrets. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size is the more economical.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Rusted Piano Strings.
A small bag of unslacked lime placed inside the piano will keep the strings from rusting.

A Dirt Remover.
A good stiff brush is useful when washing clothes. It can be applied to dirty cuffs and neckbands.

Lopsided Pictures.
Pictures are kept from becoming crooked on the wall by merely twisting the wire once or twice around the hooks.

Keeping Salt Dry.
A few grains of rice placed in the bottles when filling with salt will prevent it from becoming damp and lumpy. The rice will absorb the moisture, keeping the salt dry and fine.

Care of Mirrors.
Mirrors should be cleaned with ammonia water. Do not let the direct rays of the sun fall on the glass if it can be avoided, as the sunlight affects the metallic coating on the back of the mirror.

Worth Remembering.
The red-hot stove is a needless waste of fuel.

A quart of cow's milk weighs 2.15 pounds.

Never allow silver to stand unwashed over night.

The best polish for brass is a solution of salt and vinegar.

By greasing the inside rim the boiling-over of a pot will be avoided.

Chloride of lime is a valuable and inexpensive disinfectant in the household.

and Baptist church will take part in the cast, the members including Misses Margaret Garwood, Ruth Du-Prentiss, Mrs. Arnold, Thomas Eubanks and David McCullough.

The Mandolin Club of the Boys' High school, under the direction of Mrs. Walter Bedard, will furnish the music. Admission, 25 cents.

The Children's Hour

Now that we have the wiggams, we want the people that are going to use them. And we can easily have them.

Get five clothespins. Cut off all but three-quarter-inch of the legs. Sandpaper the cut surfaces. The top of the clothespins make a very nice body for your Indians. With ink put in the faces, as in the illustration. Use strands of black darning cotton tied together in the center for wigs. The ladies have long hair and the men short hair. Glue the wigs on. Put bands around the girls' heads. If you can get small feathers, use them for the headdresses of the men. Take two pieces of soft wire, each three-quarters of an inch long. Put one piece in back of the doll and one in front. Twist the ends together until the wires tighten around the body. At each end put a drop of brown sealing wax for hands. Tomorrow you will find out how to dress these realistic Indian dolls.

The Constitution's Weekly Detective Story

The Man Behind the Curtain

A PETER RUFF STORY
BY E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM
(Copyright, 1922, For The Constitution)

Next Week, "Major Kosuth's Mission."
ANOTHER PETER RUFF STORY.

Mr. Heseltine-Wrigge smoked in silence for a moment or two.

"This transaction of mine," he said at last, "isn't one I can talk about. I guess I'm on to what you want to know, but I simply can't tell you. The security is unusual, but it's good enough for me."

"It seems so to you, beyond a doubt," Peter replied. "Still, you have to do with a remarkably clever young man in the Count von Hern. I don't want to ask you any questions you feel I ought not to, but I do wish you'd tell me one thing."

"Go right ahead," Mr. Heseltine-Wrigge invited. "Don't be shy."

"What day are you concluding this affair?"

Mr. Heseltine-Wrigge scratched his chin for a moment thoughtfully and glanced at his diary.

"Well, I'll risk that," he decided. "A week today I hand over the coin."

Peter drew a little breath of relief. A week was an immense time! He rose to his feet.

"That ends our business, then, for the present," he said. "Now I am going to ask both of you a favor. Perhaps I have no right to, but as a man of honor, Mr. Heseltine-Wrigge, you can take it from me that I ask it in your interests as well as my own. Don't tell the Count von Hern of my visit to you."

Mr. Heseltine-Wrigge held out his hand.

"That's all right," he declared. "You hear, Myers?"

"I'll be dumb, Baron," she promised. "Say, when do you think Vican come and see me?"

Peter was guilty of snobbery. He considered it quite a justifiable weapon.

"She is at Windsor this afternoon," he remarked.

"What, at the Garden party?" Mrs. Heseltine-Wrigge almost shrieked.

Peter nodded.

"I believe there's some fete or other tomorrow," he said, "but we're alone this evening. Why won't you dine with us, say at the Carlton?"

"We'd love to," the lady assented, promptly.

"At 8 o'clock," Peter said, taking his leave.

The dinner party was a great success. Mrs. Heseltine-Wrigge found herself among the class of people with whom it was her earnest desire to become acquainted, and her husband was well satisfied to see her keen longing for society likely to be gratified. The subject of Peter's call at the office in the city was studiously ignored. It was not until the very end of the evening, indeed, that the host of this very agreeable party was rewarded by a single hint. It all came about in the most natural manner. They were speaking of foreign capitals.

"I love Paris," Mrs. Heseltine-Wrigge told her host. "Just adore it. Charles is often there on business and I always go along."

Peter smiled. There was just a chance here.

"Your husband does not often have to leave London, though," he remarked, carelessly.

She nodded.

"Not often enough," she declared. "I just love getting about. Last week we had a perfectly horrible trip, though. We started off for Belfast quite unexpectedly, and I hated every minute of it."

Peter smiled inwardly, but he said never a word. His companion was already chattering about something else. Peter crossed the hall a few minutes later, to speak to the telephone booth and spoke to his servant.

"A bag and a change," he ordered. "At Euston station at 12 o'clock in time for the Irish mail. Your mistress will be home as usual."

An hour later the dinner party broke up. Early the next morning, Peter crossed the Irish channel. He returned the following day and crossed again within a few hours. In five days the affair was finished, except for the denouement.

Peter ascended in the lift to Mr. Heseltine-Wrigge's office the following Thursday, calm and untroubled as usual, but nevertheless a little exultant. It was barely half an hour since he had become finally prepared for this interview. He was looking forward to it now with feelings of undiluted satisfaction. Mr. Heseltine-Wrigge was in, he was told, and he was at once admitted to his presence. The financier greeted him with a somewhat curious smile.

"Say, this is very nice of you to look me up again," he exclaimed. "Still worrying about that loan, eh?"

Peter shook his head.

"No, I'm not worrying about that any more," he answered, accepting one of his host's cigars. "The fact of it is that if it were not for me, you would be the one who would have to do the worrying."

Mr. Heseltine-Wrigge stopped short in the act of lighting his cigar.

"I'm not quite on," he remarked. "What's the trouble?"

"There is no trouble, fortunately," Peter replied. "Only a little disappointment for our friends the Count von Hern and Major Kosuth. I have brought you some information which I think will put an end to that affair of the loan."

WHEN AN APRON IS NOT AN APRON IT'S A CAPE

Of course this spring frock is clever, but you must admit its practicability, too. On the surface it's just a simple brown and white checked gingham over which is worn an apron of brown ratine long enough to hang below the hemline. But strange as it may seem this apron may be switched around and worn as a cape if the day turns chilly or you long to be unquestionably smart.

BEAUTY CHATS

ANSWERED LETTERS
Girl—It is not unusual for the feet and hands to attain their full growth long before the body has completed its development. It is this which sometimes makes growing boys and girls feel so awkward. As you are only 16 years of age, you probably have another five years in which to grow, during which time neither your feet nor hands may change. The fact that you are married should not cause you to change the way you have been wearing your hair. If wearing it short and curls is becoming to you, continue with that style.
Lady—It will take from a month to six weeks to throw off the dark shade of the day, after which your hair will be more becoming. The return to the natural shade will be a gradual process after this, covering a period of about six months or longer.

HAVE YOU QUALIFIED YOUR LIST OF "S-WORDS" FOR THE $1,500.00 PRIZE?

The list of "S-words" you have sent in may be the winning answer. Are you going to stand by and see your GOLD-EN OPPORTUNITY go glimmering? Certainly not; but take heed: we are giving you until Saturday, January 28, to get in line for the larger prizes. Do not let your list remain unqualified an hour longer. Get busy at once and make the most of your opportunity. Your answer may win first prize, and then think of the great reward which will be yours in return for only a few minutes of your spare time securing a subscription or two. Remember, no more lists of "S-words" can be submitted, but YOU who have already sent in an answer can qualify for the $1,500.00. Unqualified first prize wins only $50.00. Fully qualified first prize wins $1,500.00—$1,450.00 difference. Are you going to take the chance on losing this large sum?

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsion of cod liver oil which is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ. Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your drug dealer, Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (adv.)

YOU HAVE UNTIL SATURDAY JANUARY 28 TO QUALIFY YOUR ANSWER. QUALIFY AT ONCE.

ONE REEL YARNS

RING OFF.

"I'm tired of being yelled at," decided the telephone crossly. "Folks seem to think I have no feelings at all."

The telephone stopped its fretting long enough to ting-a-ling-a-ling loudly. It waited a while, and then jingled again. No one came.

"That's just it," wailed the telephone. "No one pays any attention to me when I want them to."

"It's a hard life. I sit here on the desk all day and no one pays any attention to me, except to give me a hard word now and then."

The door opened. A big man came in, seized the telephone, tried to get a number, and not succeeding, slammed the telephone down and went out.

"Ow!" groaned the telephone. "That beast nearly jarred my gizmo out. I wonder what he thinks I'm made of. That's the way it goes. Some one is either mad at me, or some one is saying foolish things in my ear until they make me sick."

"I'm never appreciated. I guess if they didn't have me they would miss me all right. They'd feel sorry for the way they treated me. I guess I'll jump off the desk and end it all."

The telephone had been left standing on the corner of the desk, so it was an easy matter for it to edge over until it was balanced right on the very end. Then some one opened the door, and just at that minute over went the telephone with a bang, smashing its receiver. "This finishes me," sighed the phone, relieved.

"My goodness," called a woman's voice. "Our telephone is broken. John, go over next door and call the repair department right away so we can have it fixed this afternoon."

The telephone gave a feeble, despairing tinkle.

EASY JUGGLING : : : : LESSON 10

Rasso, one of the most widely known professional jugglers, has prepared a series of ten lessons in easy juggling, especially for the readers of this newspaper. This is the tenth and last article.

"Apple Drop" and a Coin Catch.

Obtain a large tumbler, an apple that will fit into the mouth of the tumbler, a stiff piece of cardboard your hand does not touch, a playing card, and a rubber band.

That is all the paraphernalia needed to perform the simple, effective "apple drop."

Roll the playing card into a small tube about an inch in diameter. Put the rubber band around it to hold it in place.

Place the square of cardboard over the mouth of the tumbler. Set the playing card tube on top of it. Place the apple on the tube. See figure 1.

With a sharp blow of the hand, knock the cardboard off the glass. Hit the cardboard in such a way that your hand does not touch the glass. The tube will fly from under the apple. And the apple will drop neatly into the tumbler.

The Trick With Three Apples.

If, after performing the trick with one apple, you wish to make it more effective, try it with three apples.

This necessitates, of course, the use of two more tumblers, and two more playing cards, as well as a longer piece of stiff cardboard. Set the tumblers about three inches apart. The stiff cardboard must reach over all three tumblers. See figure 2.

When the tumblers all have been prepared, knock the stiff cardboard off the glass by hitting it at the middle glass. This will cause it to leave all three glasses at one time. Consequently the three apples will drop into the glasses simultaneously.

As I promised last week, I shall close this, my tenth and last article, by telling you the "secret" of the old hat-tossing trick. The juggler places his hat on his foot. He gives it a kick. The hat goes sailing up, makes a complete turn, and lands squarely on his head.

How It's Done.

Weight the front end of the hat—either a stiff hat or a soft one will do—with a heavy piece of cardboard. Place this cardboard around the hat close to the lining. See figure 3.

Hang the hat on your toes with the front—the weighted end—toward the floor.

Toss it into the air, putting enough force behind the toss to make the hat revolve around the weighted end, take one full turn.

It may be necessary at first to duck your head to catch the hat. But after you practice the trick you will be able to make the hat land squarely on your head by only slightly shifting your position.

And now, my young friends, I close this series of articles with the sincere hope that you have derived as much real pleasure from performing the tricks I have told you about, as I have from describing them to you.

Good-bye!

TODAY'S PUZZLE.

Behold a word meaning to urge reason for or against a thing, and have a word meaning to act as a guide.

Behold to halt and leave the highest point.

Answer to yesterday's: Acme, coil, miss, etc.

CHAPTER V.

After we had reached the coast we descended to the ground, at Edmund's request, I believe, because he wished to superintend the loading of the car upon one of the largest airships, and it was an unforgettable sight to watch him managing the work as coolly and effectively as if he had been in charge of a gang of workmen at home!

After we had started again, Edmund remained a long time in conference with Ala, Ingra staying constantly with them, and when he had apparently finished his "conversation" we were surprised to see them begin a tour of inspection of the airship, finally descending into the interior. When they reappeared, Edmund at once came to us, his face irradiated with smiles.

"I have plenty of news for you," he said. "In the first place, I have found out practically all that I wished to know about this expedition, and, second, I have thoroughly examined the mechanism of the ship. Its complication is only apparent, and the management of it is so simple that a single man can pilot it easily. I could do it myself. From what I can make out, Ala is really a queen. The expedition, which I am certain was planned by her, was intended to explore the outskirts of the dark hemisphere. Perhaps they meant to penetrate within it, but, if so, the stormy belt that we crossed was too serious an obstacle for them to overcome."

"Where are they going now?"

"Evidently back to their starting point; which is likely to be a great city—the capital and metropolis—most probably."

We were gradually nearing the mountains, although they were still distant, and presently we caught sight of what resembled, as much as anything, gigantic cobwebs glittering with dew, and rising out of the plain between us and the mountains.

Edmund watched the objects for several minutes. At length he said with the decision characteristic of him: "Since they retain their places, it is evident that they are edifices of some kind, attached to the ground. But their great height and aerial structure indicate that they are erected in the air—floating, I should say, but firmly anchored at the bottom. This atmosphere is exactly suited for such things. And it is a region of atmospheric calm. To build their habitations in the air and make them float like balloons—could any idea be more beautiful than that, or more in harmony with the nature of this planet? You will see that the capital, which we are unquestionably approaching, is to a large extent composed of this air architecture. And it turned out to be as he had said. As we drew nearer, the aerial structures which we had first seen began to tower up to an amazing height, perceptibly swaying and undulating with the gentle currents of air that flowed through their crisscrossed lattices, while behind them began to loom an immense number of floating towers, rising stage above stage. Still nearer, and we believed that we could see people in the buoyant towers. A minute later there was no doubt about their presence, for the colors broke forth and that marvelous interchange of chromatic signals which had so astonished us as we drew near the coast, was resumed.

"It is my belief," said Edmund, "that, notwithstanding the buoyancy of the heavy atmosphere, those structures cannot be maintained at such elevations without mechanical aid. You will see when we get nearer that every stage is furnished with some means of support, probably vertical screws reaching upon the air."

Again he had pressed right, for in a little while we were near enough to see the screws working in a maze of motion, like the wings of a multitude of insects.

Now we rose over an intervening hill, and as we did so a cry burst from our lips. A vast city made its appearance as if by magic, a magnificent counterpart of the aerial city above it. Put all the glories of Constantinople, Damascus, Cairo and Bombay, with all their spires, towers, minarets and domes together, and multiply their splendor a thousand times, and yet your imagination will be unable to picture the scene of enchantment on which our eyes rested.

"It is the capital of Venus," exclaimed Edmund. "There can be nothing greater than this!"

It must, indeed, be the capital, for in the midst of it rose an edifice of unparalleled splendor, which could only be the palace of a mighty monarch. Above this magnificent building, which gleamed with metallic reflections, although it was as light and airy in construction as frostwork, rose to the loftiest of the aerial towers, a hundred, two hundred—I can not tell you how many stories in height, for I never succeeded in counting them.

The other ships now dropped back and ours alone approached this stupendous tower, making apparently for its principal landing stage. Along the sides of the tower a multitude of small air ships ran up and down, stopping at various stages to discharge their living cargoes.

"Elevators," said Edmund. "Just before our vessel reached the landing stage, the enormous tower, Past and Present

THE GUMPS—THAT'S TELLING 'EM, UNCLE BIM

That's a good idea of Juba's," said Edmund, smiling. "It's a long time since we have had a nap. Let's all try a little sleep."

It was a fact that we were all exhausted for want of sleep, and in spite of our situation, I soon fell into deep slumber, as peaceful as if I had been in my bed at home. I dreamt that I was at the Olympian club on the point of trumping an ace, when a flash of light in the eyes awoke me. I started up and found Edmund standing over me. The others were all on their feet. Edmund immediately whispered: "Come quietly. I've found a way out."

"What have you found?"

"Something extremely simple. This is no prison cell, but a part of what appears to be the engine room—probably it is an unused storeroom. The lock was nothing; the merest tyro could pick it. Fortunately they never guessed that I had a key. In this world of daylight, it is not likely that pocket lamps have ever been thought of. Just around the corner, there is another door opening into a passage which leads by a power house. That passage gave access to a sort of garage of air craft, and when I stole into it five minutes ago, there was not a soul in sight. We'll simply slip in there, and if I can't run away with one of those flyers, then I'm no engineer. Come on, now, and make no noise."

Accompanied by Juba, we stepped noiselessly outside and reached the "garage." There may have been twenty small airships resting on cradles. Edmund selected one, which he appeared to have examined in advance, and motioning us to step upon its little deck, he began to manipulate the mechanism as confidently as if it had been his own invention.

In less than a minute we were circling in the air outside. We rose with stunning rapidity, swooping away in a course like an eagle.

At this instant we were seen! There was a quick flashing of signals, and two air craft shot into sight above us.

We darted forward, curving aside to avoid the pursuers. And then they swooped after us. We rose so rapidly that within a couple of seconds we were skirting the upper part of the great tower. Then others saw us, and joined in the chase. The airships swarmed out on every side like hornets; the atmosphere seemed full of them. I gave up all hope of escape, but Edmund was like a racer who hears the thud of hoofs behind him. He put on more speed until we were compelled to hang on to anything within reach in order to save ourselves from being blown off by the wind which we made, or whirled overboard on sharp turns.

Crash! We had run straight into a huge craft that persisted in getting in our way! She dipped and rolled like a tumbling top over one another, as we shot

BOND GRANTED NINE STRIKERS

Cordelia, Ga., January 23.—(Special.)—Judge O. T. Gower today granted bond in the sum of $10,000 each to O. C. Lee, J. T. Liles, J. M. Smith, J. L. Malcolm, Harvey Booker, A. W. Roar and Crowder Cates, seven of the defendants charged with the murder of W. T. Held in Ben Hill county.

These defendants have been in jail since September and have been ready for trial at each term of court since, but through providential reasons were unable to have their cases tried. A number of citizens of Fitzgerald accompanied Solicitor Wall and attorneys for defendants to Cordelia to join in the application.

ROBBERS FOILED BY BANK SAFE

Cartersville, Ga., January 23.—(Special.)—Robbers failed to gain entrance to the safe of the Bank of Cartersville near here, despite their efforts sometime between Saturday afternoon and Monday morning, according to information just received in Cartersville.

Y. J. Stover, cashier, upon entering the bank Monday morning noted an effort had been made to break the safe combination, but apparently without success. He notified the officers, and an expert was called from Atlanta.

When the safe was finally opened it was found the robbers were foiled completely, nothing further than minor damage to the combination having resulted from their visitation. No clue has been found up to a late hour tonight.

Italians often prefer to call their great men by their Christian names or by the places of their birth.

George Harrison Elected President Of 82d Division

George Harrison was elected president of the Eighty-second Division association of Atlanta, Monday night at the annual meeting in the chamber of commerce assembly hall. Mr. Harrison was vice president during 1921 and succeeds Paul Warwick. Joe Cooke was made vice president and Arthur Manning secretary, and J. H. Gilbert, treasurer, were re-elected. Captain J. B. Conners and Paul Warwick were named new executive club committee.

The other feature of the meeting was the address of Lieutenant Colonel E. B. Williams, chief of staff, fourth corps area, United States army, headquarters Fort McPherson. Colonel Williams was an American military observer in the Dardanelles warfare during 1914-15 between the Turks and English. His experiences and observations while an observer with the Turkish forces at Gallipoli were given at the meeting in an interesting style and held his audience at attention throughout. Colonel Williams also stressed the necessity of holding an officers' reserve in readiness to aid the regular army and officer the volunteer and drafted troops in case of war.

JONESBORO CHURCH BURNS TO GROUND

Jonesboro, Ga., January 23.—(Special.)—The Baptist church was totally destroyed by fire Sunday, entailing a loss of approximately $15,000, without any insurance.

Before the fire was out the board of deacons of the church held a meeting and appointed a committee consisting of R. L. Webb, R. M. Piermont, J. B. Pulliam, W. V. Whaley and the pastor, Rev. H. N. Massey, to develop plans for the reconstruction of the building.

CHATTANOOGANS LEAVE HOMES BEFORE FLOOD

Chattanooga, Tenn., January 23.—It was estimated tonight that more than a hundred families had been driven from their homes by flood waters today, all the motor vehicles of the city government being called into play to move the victims to higher ground. The river tonight at 7 o'clock had reached a stage of 95 feet and was slowly rising.

Weather Observer Pindell predicted that the crest of the flood will reach the city by noon tomorrow, and that the maximum stage will be between 36 and 37 feet.

BODIES OF DROWNED MEN ARE RECOVERED

Dalton, Ga., January 23.—(Special.)—The bodies of Ed Rawlins and Lewis Bagley, who were drowned near here Saturday night, were recovered today by a searching party. The bodies were found near the place where they were last seen, when the boat in which they were occupants capsized.

Arthur McKeehan, who was thought also to have been drowned, escaped to an island in the river from where he was rescued after spending the night in a tree.

The deceased were married and are survived by their families.

City Considered By Maccabees As Home for Order

The possibility that Atlanta may become the site of a national home for aged Maccabees has become known through the recent visit to the city of W. E. Blaney, supreme trustee of the Maccabees. The order will require about $3000 acres for the establishment of the home.

While in the city Mr. Blaney conferred with leading businessmen and bankers of Atlanta upon investment of Maccabee funds in the financial field provided by this section and expressed himself as highly pleased with the information given him. He stated that he had come to Atlanta first in connection with the Maccabee home project, because the first request that this national home be placed in the south had come from Atlanta. His visit was partly occasioned by a recent trip to Detroit by M. D. Gleason, a past state commander of the order, who strongly advocated the south as a field for investment of the funds of the order.

COMMUNITY CHORUS TO MEET WEDNESDAY

Atlanta's community chorus, composed of fifty voices, will meet Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce building to rehearse the opera, "Traviata." Sig. E. Volpi, director, announced Monday afternoon that he can use a few more singers, to whom he will give special attention.

Cotton and Commodity News GRAIN REGISTERS LATE DECLINE

Export Corn, Urges Nebraska State Officer

Chicago, January 23.—Although wheat averaged higher in price today, the market at the last underwent a decline because of an increase of profit-taking sales. Cold weather and lack of snow protection were bullish factors early. The close was unsettled at 1-5 to 1-6 net lower, with May $1.15 to $1.15-34, and July $1.22 to $1.22-1-8. Corn lost 1-5 to 1-6 net; oats lost 1-5 to 1-6 net; and provisions unchanged to 20c up.

Fears of the safety of the winter crop, especially in the southwest where snowfalls were less general than had been supposed, did a good deal to send the wheat market upward at first. Besides, many traders showed correct judgment in anticipating an announcement of a liberal decrease of the United States visible supply. The bonded stock of wheat in the United States was also much reduced. On the other hand, the fact that prices have recently had an almost continuous upward slant, led to a belief in some quarters of a reaction.

More than twenty years ago Mr. Blaney established a Maccabee home in Pennsylvania, where he has been great success. Under such circumstances, a number of "old boys" have been pining, and caused the late break in prices. Supporting orders, however, were in evidence at the finish.

Liberal receipts have weakened the corn market, but declines were checked by knowledge that exporters were looking for advantageous opportunities to sell.

Smallness of farm supplies was a reason given for the relative firmness of oats.

Recent quotations on hogs were accompanied by an advance in provisions.

The Average Man

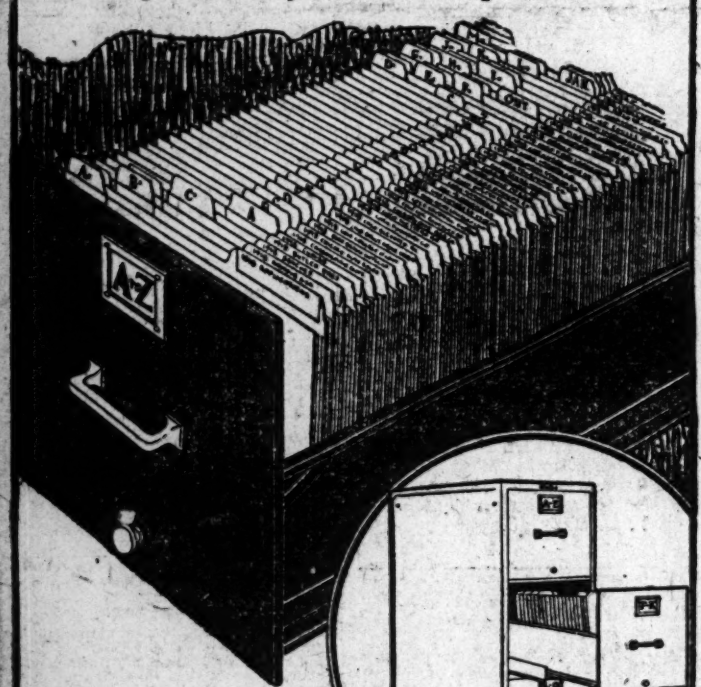

Needs help about some things that are of real importance in his business, because he is not trained in the knowledge of certain business producing means.

As an instance of this, the average man does not sufficiently appreciate what a business bringing effect will result in the use of nice engraved stationery. There are certain points about this that we can explain personally and will consider it a favor if our city salesman is called up (IvY 7211) and freely consulted. J. P. Stevens Engraving Co., Atlanta.

LEE HIGHWAY BODY IN ANNUAL MEET

Chattanooga, January 23.—The opening session of the annual meeting of the Lee Highway association here was featured by an address by Governor Charles H. Brough, of Arkansas, who paid a tribute to General Robert E. Lee, for whom the highway is named.

Governor Brough declared that while he had been under fire because of his good road policy in Arkansas, property values in the state have been enhanced millions of dollars since the plan has been placed in operation. He paid a compliment to Dr. S. M. Johnson, director general of the Lee Highway association, declaring that he was responsible for the passage of the bill.

The fight of the route of the highway between Tennessee and Alabama delegations over the routing of the Lee highway between Chattanooga and Memphis will break tomorrow night, large delegations being here from Nashville and other middle Tennessee towns and from the section around Muscle Shoals, which is contending against the Tennessee capital for the route.

by congress of a bill whereby the government had turned over to the states machinery worth $150,000,000.

Representative Phil D. Spring, of California, placed the claims of San Diego as the terminus of the Lee highway before the meeting, declaring that it was a hundred miles nearer the state line than Los Angeles and that the road to San Diego was completed from the state border. Mr. Spring said that one thing congress had done and not received criticism for was the passage of the federal aid road bill and expressed the hope that the proposal of Henry Ford for Muscle Shoals projects would be accepted by the government.

Dr. Johnson will deliver his annual report at the morning session tomorrow and addresses will be delivered by J. H. Eldridge, highway maintenance engineer of the United States bureau of public roads.

The fight of the route of the highway between Tennessee and Alabama delegations over the routing of the Lee highway between Chattanooga and Memphis will break tomorrow night, large delegations being here from Nashville and other middle Tennessee towns and from the section around Muscle Shoals, which is contending against the Tennessee capital for the route.

NEGRO MINISTERS PLANNING TO ASK NEGRO POLICEMEN

It was announced Monday by Rev. R. R. Holmes that the colored Ministers' union, which will meet today, will petition city council and the board of police commissioners to authorize negro policemen in the negro sections of Atlanta.

Notice of the proposed petition was called to the attention of Mayor Key, who stated that "the proposal will not fit the plan of the police department and would not meet the approval of council or the police board."

Rev. T. J. Linton, zone director of the $5,000,000 drive of the M. E. church, will speak at the meeting. Rev. U. A. Wingfield, president of the ministers' union, and other negro leaders, will speak.
